ABOUT ME

I'm a challenge-driven individual with a strong passion for coding and problem-solving, and an ability to seek autonomous solutions. I am open, social, and eager to collaborate with experienced professionals as part of a team in a professional and passionate environment.

I've been always been interested in the UX/UI field, hence why I specialized in front-end. But I found myself enjoying a back-end role in a project (Java) and that made me see that I'd actually enjoy working in both areas, which is why I'm interested in either a front-end, back-end or a full-stack role.

Facing new problems and projects, learning through challenge and colleagues is what keeps me curious and motivated about the future ahead.
